MONOPLANE TAKES HEADER.

BERLIN, September 27.—Dashing through the air at express train speed, a monoplane turned a complete somersault here yesterday. The crowds watching the test gazed in spellbound horror as they saw the flying machine take its downward plunge, for it seemed that the daring aviator could not possibly escape with his life. Almost by a miracle the man kept his balance, however, and was unhurt. The accident is unique in the annals of aeroplaning.

HOW TO PREVENT BLOOD POISON.

Carelessness and neglect are the chief causes of blood poisoning. A cut or bruise, however slight, should have immediate attention. A good liniment and one that not only gives prompt relief from pain, but being anti-septic, heals the wound without maturation, is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. When this remedy is applied all danger from blood poisoning is avoided. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.
